

Researching Slavery and the Slave Trade

Databases

Freely AvailableDatabasesLicensed Databases

Microform Collections

Literature & Popular Culture

Images & Artifacts

Manuscripts & Printed Narratives

Gov Documents

Freely Available Databases

- Slave Voyages: The Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade Database

Contains information on more than 35,000 slave voyages involving the forcible transport of more than 12 million Africans to the Americas between the sixteenth and nineteenth centuries. Offers researchers, students and the general public a chance to rediscover the reality of one of the largest forced movements of peoples in world history.

- Historical Document Repository \(Brown University\)

Contains over one hundred and fifty historical documents, some six hundred manuscript pages in all, as well as introductory headnotes, bibliographic information, and technical data. The collection can be browsed by date, name, or type of document. Many of the documents have been transcribed, as part of an ongoing project. Compiled by the University Steering Committee on Slavery & Justice from sources at the John Carter Brown Library at Brown University, the Rhode Island Historical Society Library, and the Brown University Archives.

- Voyage of the Slave Ship Sally, 1764-1765 \(Brown University\)

The voyage of the Sally was an example of "the triangle trade." Rum-laden Rhode Island ships sailed to Africa and acquired cargoes of Africans, who were carried to the plantation

Make a Virtual Appointment!

---

Sign up for an appointment with Holly

Subject Guide

---

Holly Snyder

Contact:

John Hay Library
401-863-1515

Subjects:

colonies of the Caribbean and sold. The ships returned home with holds filled with sugar and molasses, which was distilled into rum and shipped to Africa to produce more slaves, more sugar, and more rum. In the century before 1807, roughly 100,000 Africans were carried into New World slavery on Rhode Island ships, most to the Caribbean. The Sally's voyage stands out for several reasons. It the best-documented Rhode Island slaving venture, but it was also one of the deadliest. The timing of the voyage was significant: 1764 marked the beginning of the imperial crisis between Great Britain and its thirteen mainland North American colonies. Drawn from holdings of the John Carter Brown Library and the Rhode Island Historical Society.

- Manuscript Collections Relating to Slavery (New York Historical Society)
Comprises fourteen significant collections from the NYHS's extensive manuscript holdings on slavery. They consist of diaries, account books, letter books, ships' logs, indentures, bills of sale, personal papers, and records of institutions. Some of the highlights are the records of the New York Manumission Society and the African Free School, the diaries and correspondence of English abolitionists Granville Sharp and John Clarkson, the papers of the Boston anti-slavery activist Lysander Spooner, the records of the Massachusetts Anti-Slavery Society, the draft of Charles Sumner's famous speech The Anti-Slavery Enterprise, and an account book kept by the slave trading firm Bolton, Dickens & Co.
- Legacies of British Slave Ownership (University College - London)
Traces the impact of slave-ownership on the formation of modern Britain and the significance of British Caribbean slave-ownership 1763-1833.
- Digital Library on American Slavery
Mounted by the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in collaboration with the Race and Slavery Petitions Project, this database provides a searchable index to the "Race, Slavery and Free Blacks" microform set, which is available at the Brown University Library. PLEASE SEE the "Microforms" tab of this guide for further details.

Africana Studies, American Studies, Art & Architecture, Arts & Humanities \(General\), History, Judaic Studies, Native American and Indigenous Studies, Science, Technology & Society, Special Collections

- Georgetown Slavery Archive \(Georgetown University\)
"A repository of materials relating to the Maryland Jesuits, Georgetown University, and slavery," supported by the Georgetown University Working Group on Slavery, Memory, and Reconciliation. This project has recently been discussed in the New York Times, which helped to connect Louisiana descendants of slaves sold by the Jesuits in 1838 to fund Georgetown University with the history of their ancestors.
- Columbia University & Slavery \(Columbia University\)
The University, founded as King's College in 1755, reports on research into its slaveholding past in New York City.
- First Blacks in the Americas \(CUNY Dominican Studies Institute\)
A bilingual site that explores the history of slavery on the island of Hispaniola.

Licensed Databases

- Southern Life and African American History

Includes records of selected Antebellum plantations in South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and Louisiana, covering the labor of enslaved African Americans in the production of cotton, sugar and other crops as well as other issues related to the maintenance of the plantation slave system.

- Slavery, Abolition and Social Justice

1490-2007; Slavery, Abolition and Social Justice is a portal for slavery and abolition studies, bringing together documents and collections covering more than five centuries from libraries and archives across the Atlantic world and the Mediterranean with contextual essays by prominent scholars in the field. Close attention is given to the varieties of slavery, the legacy of slavery, the social justice perspective and the continuing existence of slavery today.

Last Updated: Mar 30, 2020 12:12 PM

URL: <https://libguides.brown.edu/slavery>

 Print Page

Login to LibApps

Subjects: Africana Studies, American Studies, History, Latin American & Caribbean Studies, Sociology

Brown University Library | Providence, RI 02912 | (401) 863-2165 | Contact | Comments |

Website Feedback | Site Map

Library Intranet

